Principal’s Message

Thank You

Thanking you again for your ongoing support at this tricky time in education. We hope you enjoyed the pack this week. All of the staff here are very grateful for your ongoing support and patience. This week the staff spent time preparing the pack for Week 5 and conducting some long-term planning for the rest of the term.

Bouncing into Remote Learning

This week’s theme is ‘Bouncing into Remote Learning.’ All students will receive a bouncing gift with their pack this week!

Picking up Packs

The pick-up day for packs will be every Friday for Term 3. The packs will be spread across the hallway. Please ensure that you collect one tomorrow. If you’re finding it a challenge to pick up the pack on short notice tomorrow, please call us and we would be happy to make other arrangements. A reminder that all families are expected to wear a mask whilst on school grounds.

There is no need to bring in any completed work from this week’s learning tomorrow. The submission of scrap books will be expected next Friday, the 14th August. Moving forward, the school will survey families early next week to identify other methods to conduct collection and submission, including use of the school buses. Please stay tuned for this.

You Tube Channel

As part of the school’s push to bring further clarity to remote and flexible learning, we have established a YouTube channel. It is very limited right now, however as the weeks progress staff will begin including small snippets of instruction to support the learning at home. I know it’s a terribly long URL, but if you could please find our You Tube channel by typing this in the search bar the first time and saving it as a favourite before Monday, it would be greatly appreciated.

Expect an Email Tomorrow

By the end of the work day on Friday, all families should expect an email from their child's classroom teacher. This email will include a number of pieces of information pertinent to the upcoming period of remote learning, such as:

- Your child's group conference time/s
- Expectations for your child's learning (particularly relating to the word study tasks)
- The class meeting time

If you haven't received this by 9am Monday morning, please contact the school and we can help you in this matter.

On-Site Supervision

I am pleased to say the demand for on-site supervision has reduced for Term 3. The issue of on-site supervision is certainly a constant risk assessment for a Principal in these difficult times and I continue to encourage as many families who can make alternative arrangements to do this. The school is always here to support families who genuinely need it and I will continue to negotiate fairly and consistently with families, however if you ever feel hard done by in these negotiations it is only due to my ongoing concern for my staff, our students and the Skipton community.
